SPRAKING in the Legislative Council on Monday last, in opposition to the Bill doing as Rome swallowed Greece. away with the projection hitherto afforded to women and girls in this Colony, the Hon. Ho Kar said :- " I hope the time will soon "come when the Colony will emerge from "the bondage of Home Government and "have a representance majority to govern "the Colony, to adjust our local affairs ac-"cording to local observation and experience, "and not subject to the dictum of any one "who is quite ignorant of local requiremeant that the representative majority should represent, that is, he elected by, the whole population, in which his own country. men would swamp all other sections, or by the British community alone, which is comparatively small section. Presumabl he meant the latter, and, if so, we cordialte agree with him in the general principle that increased representation of the British residents is desirable. But it would be foolish to delude ourselves with any hope that " little dot on the ocean" like Hongkong will ever be allowed by local legislation to rule itself out of any general line of policy adopted by the Imperial Pulliament for the Empire at large. If Parliament decides that state recognition of vive is to roved be abolished, however much we may deplore the decision, we must submit to it. When slavery was abolished in the British colonies there were many who conscientionsly disapproved of the step and a resident in the West Indies might, like Dr. Ho Kar, linve longed for "deliverance from the bondage "of the Home Government" and that the local affairs of his colony might bradjusted "according to local observation and experi-"ence." But when it was decided that slavery should be abolished it was not permitted to any individual colony to exempt itself from the decision. So in a matter like the present; contwhich this Imperial Police presided and there were also present portion of this beat handed for the future, and never uses a fire save to do his cooking.
